TAMBURO AT "GUBBIO NO BORDERS ITALIAN JAZZ FESTIVAL" 2010

The historical town of Gubbio hosted the ninth edition of "Gubbio No Borders", an event promoted and organized by the Cultural Association that bears the same name and by the city administration. This festival, which stirs up quite a lot of interest from jazz fans, had Tamburo, Proel's percussion brand, as its technical sponsor.

Under the technical direction of Vincenzo Casadidio, owner of NEW WAVE Audio & Light service, "Gubbio No Borders" hosted top quality performances, such as those of Fabrizio Bosso, Pippo Matino, Rosario Giuliani, Fabio Zeppetella, Felice Clemente, Antonello Salis and many more, cheered by the enthusiastic audience that crowded this year's edition.

On this occasion, Tamburo showed off its latest model, the "OPERA ZEN" Limited Edition, and granted all the participating bands the chance to try out its new drumset, which proved to be a great success.

The Tamburo "Opera Zen" drumset is made entirely of maple, covered inside and out with a layer of Zebrawood, and is composed of an 8" tom, a 10" tom, a 12" tom, a 14" floor tom, an 18" bass drum, and a 5"x14" snare drum. It is designed and built in Italy in a limited production of only 25 sets.

Tamburo's participation at one of the top ten Italian cultural festivals is an important acknowledgment for the brand, sanctioned by the festival's artistic director, Massimo Manzi, who happens to be a Tamburo endorser.
